Paul D. Coverdell Supplemental Application

The most important aspect of Paul D. Coverdell Peace Corps Fellowship at the Rollins School of Public Health is its ongoing commitment to service. The Paul D. Coverdell Fellowship Program advances the third goal of Peace Corps to help promote a better understanding of others by developing and maintaining educational partnerships that place returned volunteers in underserved U. S. communities. It also supports the mission of Rollins School of Public Health by creating an environment supporting excellence in service and training of leaders to promote health and prevent disease in human populations around the world.
